

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for providing data transport services includes the steps of providing a publicly-owned, high-capacity communications network, allowing connection of the communications network to retail vendors and paying customers, and charging tolls
5 for use of the communications network by the vendors and customers, without regard to the type or content of the data transmitted.

10

15

20

25

30